Call To End State Of War

President Asks Congress Act as To Germany; Still Hold Occupation

OTTAWA, July 9—(P)—Canada will formally end the state of war between herself and Germany tomorrow or shortly after, authorities said today.

WASHINGTON, July 9—(P)—President Truman asked congress today to end the state of war between the United States and Germany. He said that unfortunately Russia had made a final peace settlement impossible at this time.

Mr. Truman's action was part of a coordinated move by the Western Allies. The French cabinet approved a decree to end the state of war between the United States and Germany. He said that unfortunately Russia had made a final peace settlement impossible at this time.

Britain followed suit quickly. Three members of the British commonwealth—acting in advance—ended their state of war with the Germans. They were Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. New Zealand also announced the end of its state of war with Austria.

The move was of major importance in the east-west battle for the minds and support of the German people.

It also has some practical advantages for the Germans although it will not end the occupation by the Western powers.

Would Permit Travel

With the state of war at an end, Germans will be able to travel or do business in the United States as nationals of a friendly government rather than as enemy aliens.

Also Germans will be able to bring suits in U. S. courts.

Specifically, Mr. Truman asked that congress adopt a resolution declaring the state of war with Germany shall be terminated at such date as the president proclaims.

This country has been in a state of war with Germany since Dec. 11, 1941.

The president's request was made in identical letters to the presiding officer of the senate and house—Vice President Barkley and Speaker Rayburn.

The communication hit repeatedly at Russia, thus emphasizing the psychological importance of the move.

Mr. Truman said the western Allies had sought to build up a freely elected German government and return to the German people "an increasing degree of control over their affairs."

He continued: "Unfortunately for all of us, however, and especially for the people of Germany, Soviet Russia has actively prevented the growth of a representative democratic government in a unified Germany, and has thus made impossible for the time being the arrangement of a final peace settlement. The Soviet effort has been, instead, to cut the eastern third of Germany away from the rest of the country and to develop it as a province of the New Soviet Empire."

Mr. Truman said that ending the state of war "will give the German people a new demonstration of our desire to help bring them back to membership among the nations of the free world."

It will represent another and logical step on the road which leads towards the eventual restoration of German independence," the president added.

Letters To Leaders

Mr. Truman handed the letters to the congressional leaders at their regular Monday morning conference with him at the White House.

Along with the letters he submitted a draft of a joint resolution declaring that the state of war which began December 11, 1941, shall be ended on "such date as the president shall by proclamation designate."

Mr. Truman said the resolution also should provide that this country may continue to seize German property, under the provisions of the trading with the enemy act, in spite of the technical end of the state of war.

German property which was in this country up to the end of 1946 is subject to seizure so that the proceeds can be used to pay claims arising from the war.

Discussions began last year among most of the Western Allies on the question of ending the state of war. In September, the U. S. British, and French governments announced their intention "to take the necessary steps in their domestic legislation to terminate the state of war with Germany."

In today's letters, Mr. Truman said Russia "has actively prevented the growth of a representative democratic government in a unified Germany, and has thus made impossible for the time being the arrangement of a final peace settlement."

Three passengers in the Mitchell car were injured. Esther Anna McKinley, 39, Eldon, Mo., suffered severe cuts on the head. Her husband, Marshall, 44, also suffered head cuts, and their son, Don 12, suffered two broken legs.

Another Flood Crest For The Missouri River

Prediction of More Rains as Threat To Rising Streams

KANSAS CITY, July 9—(P)—Central Missouri cities and towns braced themselves today for another flood crest on the Missouri river.

Although it appeared the current flood would not reach the levels attained by the earlier one at Booneville, there was plenty in store for cities below there.

Also there were more rains in the picture. The forecast calls for occasional showers and thunderstorms over most of the state tonight and Tuesday morning. Rains last night slowed the falls of several streams. Lexington, where the Missouri is falling had 1.32 inches, while Clifton City on the Lamine had 1.36.

This morning the Missouri hit 28.4 feet, seven and a half over flood stage, at Booneville, with a crest of 28.9 expected Wednesday morning. This would be half a foot under the top of the previous flood.

At Jefferson City the river was up to 28.7 feet. The weather bureau expected it to rise to 29.3 Tuesday, 29.6 Wednesday and a crest of 29.7 on Thursday.

The Grand river is falling at Chillicothe and above. The Lamine fell off 13 feet at Clifton City, while the Blackwater river is expected to crest at 34 feet at Blue Lick tonight.

St. Charles, where the Missouri was stationary at 35.1 feet, had nearly an inch of rain during the night. At Hermann the stream also was stationary with a stage of 30 feet.

Many Roads Still Closed

JEFFERSON CITY, July 9—(P)—Central and western Missouri highways still were plagued today by high water as rains since Thursday washed heavily down the Missouri river.

The State Highway Department reported these routes closed:

Kansas City Division

Route 24 east of DeWitt, 10 west of Carrollton and east of Richmond, 13 between Lexington and Harrison and south of Lexington, 25 and 65 south of Carrollton, 41 north of Miami, 127 south of Sweet Springs, 35 west of Warsaw, 83 at Fairfield, Saline county H. Carroll county T.

(Traffic going through on 24 west of Lexington, 240 west of Glasgow and 24 at Levasy.)

Jefferson City Division

One Killed in a Collision Today

PARKVILLE, Mo., July 9—(P)—One man was killed and eight other persons injured last night in the collision of two cars on highway No. 45 north of here.

Harry Edward Wilson, 54-year old roofer of Kansas City, was killed.

Platte County Coroner Tom H. Hulet said a man identified as Al Simpson and the driver of the car in which Wilson was riding, could not be found after the accident.

Also injured were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Charles Iske, of Gasland, Mo., both reported in fair condition today in a Kansas City, Kansas, hospital, and their four children who were released after treatment for cuts and bruises. Two others, Bert Lawson, 54, and Carl Gugel, 49, were treated for lacerations and shock.

Magill Sees Tax Hike Boost On Inflation

Offers Program Similar to One Of Manufacturers

WASHINGTON, July 9—(P)—A former undersecretary of the Treasury told senators today the House-passed $7,200,000,000 tax increase bill will promote inflation rather than retard it.

Roswell Magill, now a New York attorney, said this is true because of stiff boosts in corporation taxes and the levies on middle and upper bracket incomes.

These hikes "will discourage new investment and additional production; and at the same time will cause higher prices to the consumer, since a good part of the increased corporate taxes will have to be passed on," Magill told the Senate Finance committee.

He wanted to know what incentive a high-income man would have to work harder and produce more if he "can keep only five cents or 10 cents out of any additional dollar earned."

The attorney is chairman of the federal tax policy which has been critical of federal fiscal policies. He was undersecretary of the Treasury in 1937 and 1938.

Magill presented a tax program almost identical with that offered last week by the National Association of Manufacturers. It included:

1. A general manufacturers' excise tax at a sufficient rate to balance the budget. Food, clothing, medicine and shelter would be exempt.

2. No increases in corporate income or excess profits taxes. The House bill proposes to raise about $2,800,000,000 annually from this source.

3. No individual income tax hike unless absolutely necessary. If one is imposed, after the House formula to make the burden somewhat heavier on the lower income groups.

The NAM proposal did not meet with high favor among the senators last week.

Nixon Proposes Shift

Today's second witness, Russ Nixon of the left-wing United Electrical Workers union, proposed that the burden of taxes be shifted away from low-income families by sharply increasing exemptions in the individual income tax.

Nixon said this would knock out about $7,000,000,000 of taxes on such families. He suggested this be made up "by adequate taxation of profits, wealthy corporations and individuals cashing in an tax-escape loopholes."

Magill touched off a lengthy discussion by urging that the budget for the current fiscal year be cut $10,000,000,000 from the $71,600,000,000 level originally fixed by the treasury.

The treasury's most recent estimate cut this to $68,400,000,000. Asked to specify where the cuts could be made, Magill suggested foreign economic and military aid, subsidy programs to the states for such things as highways, and loans for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and Housing agencies.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he didn't think it politically or economically feasible to cut the subsidies to states. But he said he sees room for large savings in military spending without cutting the size or effectiveness of the armed forces.

The American Farm Bureau federation followed up with an argument that a steep tax increase is a better way to combat inflation than price and wage controls.

Incubator Baby Has Fractured Leg

ST. LOUIS, July 9—(P)—What do you do about a three pound, seven ounce incubator baby with a fractured leg?

Physicians at St. Mary's hospital were faced with that problem in the case of Thomas Ringo Holt, who suffered the leg fracture at birth.

They made a traction splint out of bits of string, parts of a cigar box and pieces of adhesive tape. For pulley weights, they used bolts and nuts.

The baby, now 26 days old, has been trussed in the traction splint in his incubator since he was five days old. The fracture is mending nicely and the baby will be released from his uncomfortable position in a few days.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt of Sturgis, Ky., were vacationing in St. Louis when the baby was born.

Weather Observer Sees Small Tornado

KANSAS CITY, July 9—(P)—Weather Observer J. C. Huddle saw a small tornado about 20 miles northwest of Kansas City early last evening but on investigation decided it did not touch the ground.

Huddle judged that the funnel was about 10 miles north of his home near Parkville. He drove there but could find no evidence of damage. The area had a heavy rain storm, with some hail, however.

Floods Inundate Resort Area

Many people from Sedalia visited the Lake of the Ozarks region over the week-end to see what damage had been caused by the high flood waters. Reports came back that those who had visited the resort areas saw water which had partly submerged many of the cabins.

However, while rains have become less frequent the rivers and lakes have been slowly settling back into their beds. At Clifton City the Lamine river had settled back into its banks and was measured this morning at 11.33 feet after a 1.35 rain there Sunday night.

The highways around Missouri were mostly all open this week with the exception of a few in the north part of the state. The highways at Waverly and Booneville were still closed with the danger that the highway at Glasgow might close if the railroad bridge over the Missouri river washed out as was feared this afternoon.

The M. K. T. railroad was still routing its freight trains on other lines as high waters had not been cleared off their tracks at Booneville, but it was expected that if water continued to recede this week the passenger service would be restored by Thursday.

Truck Ablaze Deals Death

Wild Dash Down Mountain Kills Four; Injures 16

WURTSBORO, N. Y., July 9—(P)—A steep Catskill mountain road yesterday became a mile-long bowling alley in which a careening, breakless, 30-ton trailer truck crashed into 11 automobiles.

Four persons died and 16 were hurt, two critically, in the flaming wreckage.

The driver of the truck, Marsdon H. Reese, Jr., 28, Bayonne, N. J., miraculously escaped injury.

However, five hours after the accident he was charged with criminal negligence and held in $5,000 bail.

State police said many of the deaths and injuries were due to flames that enveloped the truck and at least four of the cars.

The truck was loaded with highly-inflammable propane gas in cylinders. But it was the big vehicle's fuel supply and not the propane that caused fire as it sideswiped the first of a long line of passenger cars.

Many of the cars the truck ripped into were halted at a traffic light at the bottom of the grade.

The truck roared on, crashing, sideswiping and spraying flames of fuel oil. It rounded a long sweeping curve and then came to rest in the middle of the road against a taxi cab. Three passengers in the cab burned to death.

Reese was quoted by state police as saying he was going down the hill at about 20 miles an hour when his air brakes gave out. He tried applying his emergency brakes, police added, but these also failed.

Police said the trailer rushed down the hill, Reese blowing his horn as a warning, at about 40 miles an hour.

A number of other cars were damaged, police said, by drivers who swerved out of the way of the truck.

Most of the traffic, that included a number of taxis, was New York-bound from the Monticello-Liberty resort area. Wurtsboro is about 85 miles from New York City.

The dead were identified as Jack Lesman, 56 and his wife, Rose, 52, Lena Sena, about 46, and Philip Levy, 54. All were from New York City.

Price Controls Off Vegetable Plants

WASHINGTON, July 9—(P)—The government today removed price controls from vegetable plants—tomato, pepper and cabbage plants and the like.

The exemption from controls was announced by the Office of Price Stabilization.

Seeds already produced and on hand also were exempt. OPS had also removed controls earlier from flowering plants, nursery stock and other floral products.

Also removed from price controls today were a variety of services, most of a professional, fiscal or educational nature.

Reds Steal A Propaganda March on UN Correspondents

By Nate Polowetzky

SEOUL, Korea, July 9—(P)—United Nations war correspondents, angered at being banned from yesterday's preliminary talks on peace at Kaesong while Communist correspondents attended, declared today the enemy had stolen a propaganda march.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, allied supreme commander, indicated to newsmen tonight that they would not be represented at the opening session of the full-scale peace talks tomorrow. They might be at later sessions, however.

Earlier, public information officers recommended that 16 newsmen, photographers and broadcasters be taken to Kaesong to cover the negotiations.

When asked if he could assure the correspondents that the western newsmen would "be kept out while Communist reporters

Bus Drivers at St. Louis Strike

EAST ST. LOUIS, July 9—(P)—City bus drivers struck here today, delaying many workers on their way to their jobs this rainy morning.

George Rampenthal, head of the local AFL Bus Drivers Union, said the drivers walked off over several grievances, including one in which they felt the company had been too strict in the enforcement of wearing uniform caps in hot weather.

Wages and hours were not involved in the dispute which caused about 125 drivers and 40 or so maintenance men to leave their jobs just as early morning workers were starting for their jobs.

Other union grievances, Rampenthal said, included a demand for the use of more buses by the East St. Louis City Lines, Bus Co., and the placing of a man to sell fare tokens at the St. Louis station.

Many workers were caught in a drenching rain as they waited for buses that didn't come. But many of them were picked up by motorists, who had heard of the strike and stopped to give the bus rider a lift downtown.

Dewey Tours Front Lines

Governor of New York in Flight Over Red Domain

By Robert B. Tuckman

A FRONTLINE COMMAND POST, Korea, July 9—(P)—Theodore E. Dewey toured the frontlines of Korea today.

Wearing army khaki, combat boots and a green field cap, the New York governor hopped between command posts and advanced positions on the west, central and east-central fronts.

At some points Dewey was north of the 38th parallel, old political boundary between north and south Korea.

On the western and east-central fronts he flew over Red territory. Allied artillery was firing when he arrived on the western front.

He also heard the thunderous fire of 105 mm artillery when he visited the U. S. First Marine Division late in the day.

Dewey began his second day on this war shattered peninsula at the war room of U. S. Eighth Army headquarters. He sat in on a regular briefing with Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander.

The briefing lasted an hour—twice its usual length.

The governor wound up the day at U. S. Tenth Corps headquarters. A blue-helmeted army band greeted him with "sidewalks of New York."

He inspected an honor guard of U. S. and South Korean troops before he had dinner with the Corps Commander, Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, and his staff.

Dewey stood by as the field artillery dropped shells into the area north of Chorwon, western anchor of the old Red iron triangle.

The governor visited three U. S. army corps headquarters—the 1st, 9th and 10th—and their commanders.

At the end of his hedge hopping tour, Dewey said he was "tremendously impressed" by what he had seen.

He travelled in jeeps, observation planes and a helicopter. On his first leg of his tour from Eighth Army headquarters to the western front, Van Fleet accompanied Dewey in an observation plane.

Dewey's trip took him at one point within about 15 miles of the United Nations "peace camp" near the west coast. It did not get him to the base from which Allied negotiators will take off Tuesday for cease fire talks with the Communists at Kaesong.

Asked whether he flew over Kaesong, Dewey said: "No, that was forbidden territory."

He was allowed at the session, Ridgway said.

"We'll see that we get everything we can."

Anger Expressed

In outlining his position to the angry correspondents, Ridgway said "the issues are too great to prejudice failure and breakup."

The army's censorship of the status of Kaesong also aroused anger among the correspondents. The military has referred to Kaesong as being in no-man's land, leaving the impression it was an open city.

But Col. Andrew Kinney, chief of the U. N. liaison team which yesterday arranged preliminaries for the full-scale talks, told a news conference last night that the word "definitely" is in enemy hands. "Pilots who flew Kinney's group to Kaesong saw armed Reds on the ridgeline around the (Please turn to Page 4, Column 3)

Are Ready For Full Scale Talks on The Cease-Fire Move

Driven Back in Storming of Mount Taegu

Heavy Counter Stroke From The Red Forces

By Stan Carter

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 9—(P)—Allied troops storming Mount Taegu on the east-central front were driven back today by determined Red counterattacks.

The United Nations soldiers started their pincers attack on the mountain stronghold Sunday morning. Twelve hours later they neared their objective, 12 air miles northeast of Yanggu.

The Reds hammered back with mortars, small arms, automatic weapons and machine guns.

The allies withdrew. The action highlighted an otherwise comparatively quiet day along the front as time drew near for peace talks to begin in Red-held Kaesong.

No ground action was reported from the Kaesong area. Allied F-86 Sabre jets shot down a Russian-made MIG-15 in northwestern Korea Monday.

Capt. Milton E. Nelson of Tarrant, Ala., scored the kill, his third of the war.

That made Nelson the leading U. S. "MIG-killer" still flying in Korea.

He was in a flight of Sabre Jets protecting B. 29 Superforts raiding the Red airfield at Si-anju.

Three other MIGs were destroyed and two were damaged in an air battle Sunday.

Fighting All Day

Associated Press Correspondent George MacArthur, reporting from the east-central front, said one arm of the U. N. pincers was stalled east of Mount Taegu.

Fighting continued there all day Monday, he said, but not as intensively as the battle south of the mountain.

MacArthur said U. N. artillery pounded the Red positions all day Monday. More than 28,000 rounds were fired in support of the attack.

Allied air support was restricted by bad weather.

For the first time in four days Red artillery shells fell in the north central sector of the old Red "iron triangle," now held by the Allies.

A pooled dispatch from the front said 11 shells and sporadic long range small arms were thrown at Allied positions on the key mountain terrain of the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Plonggang area.

U. N. patrols fought a short bitter battle with Reds west-northwest of Yonchon. Other Allied troops in the area directed artillery fire on an enemy platoon in area west-northeast of Kumhwa.

Scattered skirmishes were reported from the central and east-central fronts.

U. N. forces stood off a series of probing attacks northeast of Yangju. An engagement with an estimated enemy battalion was still going late afternoon.

On the east coast, Communist company, threw artillery and mortar fire at U. N. forces northwest of Kaesong. They followed with foot troops. The attack was repulsed.

Earlier reports said thousands of Communist vehicles jammed North Korean roads Sunday night. They were moving in all directions on main road.

In Washington, Air Secretary Finletter said the Reds have massed more than 1,000 planes in North Korea and Manchuria.

There were no official reports of Allied losses in the air battles Sunday and Monday. The Red radio in Pyongyang said three Allied planes were downed Sunday.

Eleven Bodies From Bus Wreck

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, July 9—(P)—Firemen recovered 11 bodies today from the wreckage of a bus which slipped into flooded river last night.

The bodies—five men, four women and two children—were found along the banks of the river as much as a mile downstream.

Writer is Held In Contempt

NEW YORK, July 9—(P)—Mystery story writer Dashiell Hammett, chairman of the Civil Rights Congress bail fund, was held in contempt of court today by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

Judge Ryan ordered the contempt citation after Hammett refused to disclose the names of contributors to the $80,000 bond put up for four missing convicted Communist leaders.

Ryan previously had adjourned millionaire Frederick Vanderbilt Field in contempt of court for the same reason.

Rotation Troops To Land Tuesday

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9—(P)—About 600 combat rotation troops from Korea are aboard the transport President Jackson, due here tomorrow afternoon, the army said today.

In addition, the transport will bring home the first large group of army reservists for discharge under a new program for releasing such men from service.

The President Jackson has a passenger list of 1,075 army personnel.

On Wednesday, another transport, the Gen. C. Breckenridge, is due in San Francisco. The port of embarkation said it understood there were "a few rotation troops" aboard. The army listed 1,431 army men, 231 navy personnel and

Chiefs Split Doubleheader On Sunday

Defeat J. C. Kiwanis 17 to 1; Lose to All-Stars 9 to 1

The Sedalia Chiefs split their doubleheader Sunday, taking the Central Missouri B. J. (southern division) game from Jefferson City by 17 to 1, but dropping the night affair to the Ft. Leonard Wood, former semi-pro Stars, 1 to 9.

It was one of the easiest games the Chiefs had this season when they played the Kiwanis club team of Jefferson City. The Jefferson City pitchers apparently were unable to get control of the ball and became easy targets for the Chief hitters.

Jeff City Tried Hard
In spite of their losing score, the Jeff City players fought hard to come back until the late innings when several of the players became listless and carefree. It was the first loss for the Kiwanis team in the second half of the league schedule and Sedalia's first win.

The night affair was one-sided between the Chiefs and the All-Stars, but after the first inning the Chiefs settled down and tried to hold the semi-pro players from the fort. Three runs scored on the Chiefs in the first inning made it appear as if it would be a repetition in reverse of the afternoon affair, but the second inning new life struck and the Sedalians fought back hard, trying to win.

Too Much Dick Weik
However, it was too much Dick Weik on the mound for the All-Stars. Weik sent fifteen "In-dians" back to the bench via the strikeout route. However, he was touched for four hits and walked three.

Imhauser was on the mound for the Chiefs and was touched for fourteen hits and walked seven. Although the Chiefs were on the losing end, the game was well played and gave the fans some exciting baseball on the part of both teams.

Line score of afternoon game:
Kiwanis 000 000 010—1 7 3
Chiefs 023 220 53X—17 15 0
Brooks, Lincoln, Ferguson, Fork and Schneiders; Brown, Johnson and Cochran.

Score night game:
All-Stars 310 102 001—9 14 1
All-Stars 310 102 111—9 14 1
Weik and Rapp; Imhauser and Cochran.

Stealin' Sam Kept Going

Boston Braves' outfielder Sam Jethroe slides into second as Giants' catcher Sal Yvars' throw sails past Shortstop Al Dark at the Polo Grounds in New York, July 7. Jethroe got to his feet and went on to third base. And when second baseman Eddie Stanky, who retrieved the ball, threw wild past third, Stealin' Sam scored. Action was in the 10th inning of Braves-Giants game. Both Yvars and Stanky were charged with errors. The Giants won 7-6, in the 11th inning. (AP Wire-photo)

Red Sox of Boston Now Riding High

Cardinals Split A Doubleheader With Pirates

By Ralph Roden
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Can the Boston Red Sox do it this time?
That's the question fans are asking today as the thrilling American league pennant race takes time out for the All-Star game.

Once again the Red Sox are riding high, threatening to take command. But in the background is an old Red Sox jinx—an extended road trip, graveyard of Red Sox' pennant hopes since 1946.

The Red Sox fanned anew their pennant dreams yesterday by beating the New York Yankees, 6-2. The victory was their 8th straight at home over the Yankees and the 13th in their last 17 starts.

By winning, the Red Sox took over second place from the slumping Yankees and remained a game behind the front running Chicago White Sox who posted a tough, 5-4 decision over the last place St. Louis Browns.

The Yankees are two games behind and their third place position is endangered by the onrushing Cleveland Indians who took a doubleheader from their Detroit Tiger "cousins," 8-3 and 10-2. The Indians are only four games out of first place.

Boston, in dumping the Yankees, boosted its Fenway park record to 30-10, a .750 record. Away from their friendly confines the Red Sox have won only 17 and lost 18 for a second division .472 gait.

The Red Sox clash head on with the White Sox after Tuesday's All-Star game interlude. They open a 13-game swing through the west with a four-game series in Chicago starting with a two-night doubleheader on Thursday.

While the American league race tightened up yesterday, the Dodgers pulled 8 games away from the runner-up New York Giants in the National.

The Dodgers downed the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-4, in ten innings as the Giants dropped a 6-5 decision to the Boston Braves, also in 10 innings.

Major Test For Turner Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, July 9—(AP)—Unbeaten Gil Turner of Philadelphia will let his fists decide tonight whether he's destined for boxing fame and fortune or the obscurity of a flash-in-the-pan.

Turner, 20-year-old Negro, winner of 21 straight bouts, meets his first major test in a 12-round bout at Shibe park against the veteran welterweight, Charley (Milkman) Fusari of Irvington, N. J. It's boxing's old, old story of flaming youth and inexperience pitted against age and experience.

Turner's one slim claim to fame thus far has been two victories over the fading Beau Jack, Augusta, Ga., shoeshine boy wonder of a few years ago. But Jack has seen his best days in the ring.

Boxing experts in this area insist the hard punching Turner looks just like Ray (Sugar) Robinson at the same stage of Robinson's development.

Turner hopes to earn a bout with former lightweight champion like Williams of Trenton, N. J. if he lacks Fusari. Should the Turner bubble burst—well, he may get a chance to watch Williams try to regain his title from Jimmy Carter, 135 pound champ.

Robinson to be Coached on Foul
LONDON, July 9—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who has had two forgettable brushes with European "foul" rules in the last year, will be given a private briefing on British boxing regulations before stepping into the ring tomorrow night to defend his world middleweight crown against Randolph Turpin.

It was learned that sometime before the start of the 15-round bout, Robinson will get a full explanation of the "foul" clauses in British rules.

"We feel that it would be highly unfair to everyone if an unintentional foul occurred," a source close to the British boxing commission said.

Robinson's first run-in with the European "foul" rules was in December. Luc Van Dam of Holland claimed the blow from the champ that knocked him out in Brussels was low and around the kidneys.

And in Berlin two weeks ago, Robinson was disqualified in the ring when the referee claimed his knockout of Gerhard Hecht was made via a kidney punch. This was rubbed out hours later by the West Berlin boxing commission which labeled the contest "no decision."

Big League Leaders Will Talk Business

Sellout For The All-Star Game Tuesday, July 10

By Joe Reichler

DETROIT, July 9—(AP)—Baseball's top players, assembling for tomorrow's All-Star game between the National and American leagues, will combine business with pleasure.

Even while managers Eddie Sawyer of the National and Casey Stengel of the American are announcing their starting pitchers and batting orders, player representatives of all 16 clubs, for the first time, will sit down with the owners to discuss common problems.

Many of the delegates are members of the All-Star cast. Detroit's Freddie Hutchinson, American League player representative, is a candidate for starting honors. Stengel, however, is expected to name either Ned Garver of the St. Louis Browns or southpaw Ed Lopat of his own New York Yankees. Don Newscombe, big Brooklyn right-hander, is expected to be Sawyer's selection. The rest of the lineup is already set by a note of over 4,000,000 fans.

The game is assured of a sellout of some 52,000. The receipts are expected to approach $150,000, already prebooked for the player pension fund. The same fund also gets the $6,000,000 television fee for next six world series and All-Star games.

Wants Bigger Slice
The players do not wish to change that but want a bigger slice of the world series receipts. Under the present division of series receipts, the commissioner's office gets the first 15 per cent. Sixty per cent of the balance from the first four games only goes to the players.

Hutchinson pointed out that the winning share of last year was roughly $5,700. Back in 1924, the winning slice was $5,900. He said the dollar of 1924 was worth more than the dollar of 1951.

Although hampered by injuries to catcher Yogi Berra and outfielder Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees, and shortstop Chico Carrasquel of the Chicago White Sox, the American Leaguers ruled a 7-5 favorite to gain their 13th victory in 18 classics. Hunch players pointed out that the Nationals, who defeated the Americans, 4-3, in 14 innings last year, have never won two in a row. They copied in 1936, 1938, 1940, 1944 and 1950.

Also, the Americans have won in every odd year. No game was played in 1945.

Berra pulled a back muscle last week. Carrasquel suffered a spike wound. DiMaggio pulled a leg muscle. All played yesterday and were expected to see action tomorrow. Berra and Carrasquel are on the starting team.

The National League squad reported in good shape, although all eight pitchers saw action either Saturday or Sunday.

Starting Tossers For All-Stars

DETROIT, July 9—(AP)—Ned Garver of the St. Louis Browns and Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, both right-handers, were named today as the starting pitchers for the All-Star game tomorrow.

This will be the second successive year that Roberts has been the starting pitcher for the National League. This will be Garver's first appearance in the game.

Roberts has a record of 10 victories against 7 defeats. Garver's record is 11-4.

The following batting order was announced by Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies and Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees who will handle the opposing teams:

Musial, Cards, lf .369.
Robinson, Dodgers, 2b .356.
Hodges, Dodgers, 1b .273.
Elliott, Braves, 3b .320.
Ennis, Phillies, rf .280.
Campanella, Dodgers, c .326.
Roberts, Phillies, p (10-7).

Blues Lose to California 4-5

The Teen-Age Blues lost their contest to the California Cyclones Sunday afternoon, by a score of 5 to 4. The game was played on the Housel Park diamond. A ninth inning home run off the bat of Quinn gave the Negro team the winning run.

It was Smith vs. Smith on the mound. C. A. Smith of the Blues pitched a nice game as did his opponent, he allowing nine hits and striking out eight while Smith of the Cyclones gave up seven hits.

The Blues scored two in the third. Higgins doubled, Fisher singled and both scored on a high fly off Joe Walters' bat, which was dropped by the Cyclones' centerfielder.

In the sixth and seventh innings they added one run in each inning. In the sixth Watson singled. A walk was given and then Watson scored on Wiley's single. In the seventh a double by Joe Fisher, a passed ball, and a single by Watson added the fourth run.

The Cyclones scored two in the seventh and two more in the eighth to tie the game up 4 and 4. But that long hard hit ball of Quinn's took the starch out of the Blues and the visitors came through with the 5-4 win.

The Blues will hold practice Tuesday. On Thursday the team journeys to Marshall to meet the Grays there.

Church News

The Women's Guild of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church held its July meeting Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Roy Fender, president, gave a report of the Midwest Summer conference which she attended recently at Doane college, Crete, Neb. The conference program consisting of classes in mission study, program planning and organization, was planned to prepare delegates for next year's Women's Guild program, the theme of which is, "In All Things Thee to See."

A worship service, led by Mrs. R. R. Ramlow assisted by Mrs. R. J. Hausam, opened the meeting. Mrs. Lloyd Satterwhite, stewardship, urged the use of the noon-day prayer for peace. She also announced the August meeting under the chairmanship of her department would consist of the showing of the stewardship film, "Beginning with Me." The film was produced jointly by Mrs. Roy Corman, National president of the Women's Guild and the Rev. Oscar J. Two Injured as Car Hits Truck

Two persons were injured seriously about 4:30 a. m. Sunday, when a car driven by John Chism, Negro from Versailles, Mo., crashed into a parked gasoline tank truck of Lloyd R. Parker, at 1000 Crescent Drive. The accident occurred, according to Chism, when a tire blew out causing the car to go out of control.

W. C. Wheeler, 25, Negro, suffered a spine injury and he is in Sedalia hospital No. 2.

W. L. Meadows, New York City, Negro, suffered a fracture of the pelvis and shock. He was treated at the Sedalia hospital and later removed to the Veterans Administration hospital at Wadsworth, Kas.

The two injured were given treatment by Dr. A. R. Maddox. The tank truck was parked in the driveway of Parker's home when the accident occurred. Police officers making the investigation said it was a miracle there wasn't an explosion of the gasoline tank as the tank truck was loaded with gasoline.

The front end of the 1940 sedan, driven by Chism, was badly wrecked from the collision.

Chism was arrested by the police and charged with careless driving. He appeared in court, this morning, pleaded not guilty before Judge Harry O. Berry, acting police court judge, and the case set over to 9:00 a. m. Tuesday.

Severely Burned In an Explosion

Mrs. L. M. Littlefield, of La Monte, was severely burned Saturday morning in an explosion at her home four miles south of La Monte. The explosion was caused by flames from a kerosene stove which ignited butane gas leaking from a partly opened pipe.

Mrs. Littlefield was taken to the Bothwell hospital by neighbors and was treated there by Dr. G. W. Grove, of Knob Noster. Her condition was believed serious, but Monday the hospital report was that she was improved.

It is believed that when a gas stove was removed Friday for repair purposes the butane gas supply was not shut off completely. Mr. and Mrs. Littlefield sleep in the second floor of the house and as a result did not notice the gas.

Early Saturday morning Mrs. Littlefield went downstairs and was in the process of lighting the kerosene stove when the explosion occurred. Most of the windows were blown out as were the window screens. Some fire damage

Cease-Fire Agreement We Want in Korea Lacks Precedent, Worries

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP)—Lack of precedent for the kind of cease-fire agreement which the U. S. hopes to achieve in Korea has defense officials worried.

This is the first time in U. S. history that America has tried to end a major military engagement in which she wasn't the clear-cut victor, able to dictate the terms.

A Pentagon historian says that "in making a cease-fire or armistice agreement with a civilized power and central government in control of its armed forces, such agreements have never been violated." The big worry is whether the Chinese and North Korean Communists can be trusted to live up to any agreement they might sign with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN Commander.

Fresh in the mind of Gen. George Marshall, certainly, is the use the Chinese Reds made of a cease-fire truce he arranged between them and the Chinese Nationalists Jan. 10, 1946. They were able to use the time they then and March 15, 1946, when they renewed the fighting, to regroup, retrain and eventually push the Nationalists out of Asia. It was a turning point in that phase of the war.

The type of cease-fire the U. S. seeks in Korea, between undefeated battlefield foes, was extremely rare in modern history until after World War II. Unconditional surrenders ended both World Wars, the Franco-German war of 1870-71 and the Civil War Before World War II the most important cease-fire of the hoped-for Korean type was the one negotiated by former President Theodore Roosevelt 46 years ago.

Between the Russo-Japanese war, the Japanese had won many battles but they were badly straining their economic and financial resources. They were glad to accept Roosevelt's mediation, and the final peace terms gave Japan less than was warranted by her victories. Neither side had a taste for resuming hostilities.

The peace that now exists in Greece after bloody fighting between Greek government troops and Communist guerrillas was called a cease-fire by the defeated Communists. Actually the U. S. had refused to take part in a cease-fire negotiation proposed by the Russians seven months before the Red guerrillas finally gave up on Oct. 16, 1949. That made it virtually a complete surrender by the Communists and a complete victory for the Greek government.

There was no formal surrender. The Communist guerrilla bands just moved out of the country or disbanded. The Communist announcement that they were giving up the show added sourly.

"The monarcho-fascists are mistaken if they think that the struggle is ended and the Democratic Army has ceased to exist." The peace has remained fairly intact in Greece this far, however, despite that warning.

Perhaps the most successful cease-fire negotiated since World War II was on May 7, 1949, between the Republic of Indonesia and the Netherlands by a special United Nations Commission.

It ended five months of murderous fighting in the jungles of the Indies and resulted in the signing of a permanent pact between the two countries six months later, which transferred Dutch sovereignty "unconditionally and irrevocably to the United States of Indonesia."

Another successful cease-fire agreement was signed on April 8, 1950, by India and Pakistan. It ended fighting and rioting which had gone on between the two countries ever since they won independence from Britain in 1947.

The agreement signed between Liaquat Ali Khan, Prime Minister of Pakistan, and India's Nehru guaranteed the end of the fighting and protection and fair treatment to the 40,000,000 Moslems on the Indian side of the frontier was caused.

Mr. Littlefield was in the upper part of the house at the time of the explosion and was not injured.

Talks Peace

and the 12,000,000 Hindus in Pakistan.

One of the most difficult cease-fire agreements to effect was the one finally signed between Egypt and Israel on Feb. 24, 1949, after nine months of bitter hostilities between the two countries. Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden, an agent of the UN trying to secure peace there, was assassinated during the difficult and long negotiations.

It took Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, U. S. representative from the UN, to finally arrange the settlement. The peace has held up well until recently when counter charges were made that the agreement was being violated. Bunche's efforts in this cease-fire have been hailed as one of the greatest modern contributions to world peace. And the current friction cannot mitigate his accomplishment.

In Accord on Defense Treaty

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(P)—
The United States, Australia and New Zealand were reported today to have agreed on the terms of their proposed Pacific Defense Treaty.

Officials in touch with negotiations told a reporter an announce-would be made soon. The actual signing may be delayed, however,

until the Japanese Peace Treaty conference is held. It is now scheduled for San Francisco early in September.

New Zealand's Prime Minister,
Sidney Holland, said in Auckland today he hoped to be able soon to announce the signing of the Pacific Security Pact. He said he couldn't amplify but thought it would come with the Japanese Peace Treaty.

Kinney said several Communist

Battle Over Controls on In The House

Argue Over Fixing Prices, Wages And Rents in Control

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(P)—
The House voted down 169 to 149, a Republican proposal that the government try to hold off inflation with tighter credit controls before using price and wage ceilings.

By Francis J. Kelly

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(P)—
The battle on controls got down to the voting stage in the house today with a nation-wide argument over whether the government should have greater or lesser power to fix prices, wages and rents.

A final house vote may not come until the end of the week.
First it must dispose of some 80-odd proposals—things that various legislators want to put in or take out of the present economic controls law.

Once the house passes a bill—assuming it does pass one—some final legislation will have to be worked out with the senate which has already passed a bill of its own.

Just before the house met,
Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and other Democratic congressional leaders had their regular Monday forenoon conference with President Truman.

Rayburn said they talked about controls legislation, but he declined to predict what the house would do. He did say:

"We are hoping to get a little better bill than some people think is apparent at this time."

The administration was going all out to win the broad control powers Mr. Truman asks. It had help from the Democratic political organization and from many labor unions.

The United Labor Policy Committee, made up of officers of the AFL, CIO and independent unions, called a meeting to work on strategy for "tough" price controls.

Wise For Support

The Democratic National Committee telegraphed local party leaders last week seeking support.
And many administration figures were arguing on the radio and TV to argue for strong controls.

Eric Johnston, the economic stabilization director, was one of those carrying the ball for the administration. He argued the nation could look for "a much cheaper dollar"—worth perhaps 30 to 40 cents in 1939 purchasing power if controls are scrapped. Johnston figured the dollar now is worth 53 to 54 cents of its 1939 value.

During a senate committee hearing, Senator Aiken (R-Vt.)
alluded to the administration activities as "an enormous propaganda program." He said he was "amazed that so much time, effort and money could be spent with so little response."

Aiken tossed out his comments at a labor subcommittee's hearings on ethical standards in government.

Predicts Deficit

Johnston, in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U. S.
News and World Report, predicted a government deficit this year of from $5,000,000,000 to $7,000,000, 000.

And under the present defense program, he estimated the cash deficit in the budget would be "up to 20 or 25 billion" for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1952.

Slightly Hurt as Auto Ditched

Mrs. J. B. Mathis, 69, of Mayfield, Ky., was slightly injured about 9:10 o'clock this morning, in an automobile accident on Highway 50, at the first turn just east of the Smithton junction. The car was driven by Mrs. Andrew Babb, of Mayfield, who lost control of the Chevrolet sedan and it crashed into a ditch.

Mrs. Babb, accompanied by her husband, their son, Dale, 13, and Mrs. Mathis, were headed east on the highway. She told Sergeant W. S. Barton, of the State Patrol that the car went onto the soft shoulder and in pulling back the car bounced, went back onto the highway and then swerved to the right off onto the shoulder and into a ditch.

Mrs. Mathis suffered a slight laceration on her head and a slightly sprained back. She was taken to the Bothwell hospital by the Neumeyer ambulance from Smith-ton, where Dr. John Lamy gave medical attention.

Slight damage resulted to the automobile.

Field Posts Bail With $10,000 Cash

NEW YORK, July 9.—(P)—Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire leftwinger, posted $10,000 cash bail today for his release from jail on a contempt of court charge.

The money was accepted by the U. S. district court but Field's release was postponed until the arrival of U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald.

The wealthy "angel" for numerous Communist activities was sentenced to 90 days in jail last Friday after he repeatedly refused to reveal the names of individuals who posted $80,000 bond for four fugitive convicted Communists.

Field spent the week-end
in jail after his friends failed to raise bail money during the Saturday-Sunday bank holiday.

The money, four $500 bills and eighty $100 bills, was handed to a clerk in the office of the U. S. district court by a woman. She gave no name and said the bail was being deposited by Field in his own behalf.

An earlier offer of $10,000 was not accepted, apparently because it was connected with the civil rights congress.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan sentenced the wealthy, 46-year-old great, great grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt
after he refused for a third time to tell the court who contributed to the $80,000 bail for four fugitive convicted Communist leaders.
Later Judge Thomas W. Swan of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, fixed bail at $10,000 for Field, pending appeal.

The $10,000 in cash was taken to the courthouse by Mrs. Mary Kaufman, attorney for the bail fund of the Civil Rights Congress, listed as subversive by the U. S.
attorney general. Field is second in command of the fund. Judge Swan in fixing bail stipulated that it was not to be furnished by the Civil Rights Congress, and that it must be "in form acceptable to the U.
S. attorney's office."

Assistant U. S. Attorney Roy Cohn said the government proposed to ask for a guarantor agreeable to the prosecution and that there might be some delay in accepting bail for Field.

Increase Arsenal Operations

KANSAS CITY, July 9.—(P)— Operations at the Lake City arsenal will be increased 35 per cent.
Lt. Col. E. M. Serrem, commanding officer, announced Saturday.

New construction to handle the expansion in production of small arms ammunition will cost $1,250,- 000, Serrem said.

The plant was built during World War II, reactivated last December, and in March a second order called for complete use of the small arms ammunition facilities.

The new order calls for new types of ammunition in addition to expansion of present manufacture.
The types include high explosive small arms ammunition, high explosive incendiary, armor-piercing,
and army-piercing tracers.

Are Ready For Full Scale Talks On The Cease-Fire Move

"Eighty army business" with Ridgway.

As ranking officer of the opposing sides prepared to talk peace, there was no large scale ground fighting on the Korean front. U. N. troops launched two limited objective attacks Sunday against Red resistance that varied from light to heavy.

In the air war, F-86 Sabre jets destroyed one Russian-aid MIG 15 Monday. Three others were shot down and two damaged Sunday.

United Nations military leaders took no chances along the front.
They reasoned that until a definite agreement is reached to stop the shooting, the best course is to keep hitting away at the enemy.

At Eighth army headquarters, everyone went about business as usual, but there was a feeling of elation and hope.

Everyone realized that Tuesday's talks and succeeding conferences represented the first big chance for peace since the Chinese "volunteers" entered the war last winter.

Divorce Suit Filed In Circuit Court

A petition for divorce was filed in the circuit clerk's office this afternoon by Mary Beth Ashley against Henry D. Ashley.

It states the couple was married August 1, 1943, and that they separated July 9, 1951.

The plaintiff alleges general indignities and asks care and custody of three minor children.

Hat Color Tells Pupil From Teacher At Navy's First Helicopter School

In the beginning student helicopter pilots at the navy's Ellyson field school take up primary trainers. They're equipped with skids instead of wheels.

Pictures and Text
By John D. Bent
NEA Staff Correspondent
PENSACOLA, Fla. — (NEA) — Marine Lt. Max Nebergall is back from Korea, wearing a red baseball cap of luminous satin and teaching aviators how to do tricks in a flying windmill that would amaze even the birds.

He's one of the instructors in the Navy's first full-fledged helicopter school at Ellyson Field, Pensacola, where HTU-1 is now training all Navy, Marine and Coast Guard fliers who want what others call a "whirlybird" career.

Nebergall is the only instructor at Ellyson who flew "copters" in Korea, where the hovering aircraft really came into its own. One of the tricks he describes for his students was flying relief men to outposts in terrain so rugged that even a helicopter couldn't land.

All he could do was bring the 'copter down far enough to balance the nose wheel on the peak of a hill. To maintain this precarious balance, as fast as one man left the helicopter, another one had to get in to replace him.

Nebergall wears the red baseball cap to distinguish instructor from students. Some of the teachers are enlisted men, most of the students are seasoned fliers in all types of aircraft, and hold relatively high ranks. They wear caps that glow orange.

The eight-week course includes two weeks of ground school, four weeks in small, primary helicopters, and two more weeks in the big 'copters like those now in service in Korea.

The primary trainers have skids instead of wheels, the idea being that they can't taxi and thus the students have to learn to take off straight up.

In the bigger machines, they must learn how to haul men up from the ground or water while remaining aloft, using a winch in the cockpit. During training, sandbags simulate men being rescued, but for his final examination, each student hauls up enlisted men from the field as a live load.

The "whirlybirds" have been taking over many jobs in the fleet formerly assigned to conventional aircraft. Comdr. Ben Moore, who learned to fly 'copters in their pioneer days, has speeded up the program at HTU-1, of which he's skipper, to meet the new demand for pilots.

If any of the cadets training in other types of aircraft at Pensacola have doubts about the 'copter, they soon change their ideas when they see the training unit's whirlybirds rescue cadets who crashed in Pensacola Bay.

CHARITY STANDISH

BY CHARLES JUDAH

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

WHEN Charity Standish went West profound influences were at work throughout the world. In Asia, Japan was flexing muscles almost but not quite atrophied by centuries of isolation; in Europe Bismarck was putting the finishing touches on his triple alliance; in America the shrill clanging of the Industrial Revolution was beginning to be heard above the whisper of the winds as they swept through the rustling corn and tossing wheat of the prairies.

She felt no inner compulsion to bring the influence of virtuous womanhood to bear on the vice-laden frontier, or to grace a one-room schoolhouse from whence waves of culture might radiate to the uncouth. On the other hand, this callous indifference to a dedicated life did not spring from a predilection towards sin, for though with her black eyes, dark brown hair, gamin's grin and female shape she was well enough endowed for a siren's career, the vision of herself as a dance hall vampire luring men to their destruction eluded her. She was not interested in sin—or even men—very much.

Charity was interested in hay fever. She went West because of hay fever. One day her doctor mentioned casually that according to reports drifting East people did not suffer from hay fever in the West as they did in Ohio.

New Mexico, the doctor, who knew as little about the West as about curing hay fever, suggested hopefully. From that point Charity was on her own. Neither physician nor hay fever offered the slightest hint as to just where in New Mexico it would be best to go. After ruthless elimination two places remained—Santa Fe and San Lorenzo. The names of both fascinated her. She could not make up her mind which to choose until a newspaper article reprinted in the Cleveland paper finally turned the scale. The article was from the San Lorenzo Gazette:

There is a windmill on the Plaza and if certain characters return to town 100 substantial citizens of San Lorenzo aim to throw a party around that windmill. Hemp neckties will be the gift and the windmill will be tastefully decorated.

The names of the "certain characters" followed. Besides such orthodox ones as Rattle-Snake Sam, One-Eye Joe and Scarface Charlie there were others, fresher, more intriguing. Pancake Billy was mentioned, and Fly-Speck Al, Hatchet-Face Kit, Cold-Deck George, Jimmy-the-Duck and Wink-the-Barber. It was really these names that did it.

"If a girl must go West," Charity explained, "she might as well see the interesting sights and I'm sure that the windmill on the Plaza with Cold-Deck George on one arm and Wink-the-Barber on the other would be an interesting sight."

"You'd faint at the sight," replied her companion, whose unromantic name was Ed Smith. But Ed was prejudiced. He did not want Charity to go West. He wanted her to stay home and marry him. He wanted to take her for better or worse, including the hay fever.

"I love you," he declared, and added wistfully, "If you'd give yourself a chance you might love me."

"It isn't me that won't give you a chance," Charity explained. "It's the hay fever. Love can't be sandwiched in between sneezes, and a tickling nose makes romance ridiculous. Until I get rid of my hay fever I can't even think of love."

Looks and Manner Count Most When Girl Graduate Seeks Job

Tip for the girl graduate who will soon be job hunting:

"A girl's personality and appearance still count more than her

Side Glances

"We're getting along wonderfully with your family—why visit them and spoil it all?"

On the crest was the loveliest spot Charity had ever known. She often came here alone; today she brought Douglas.

That was August—hay fever time in Ohio.

OCTOBER, in San Lorenzo's Indian summer, Charity's nose did not tinkle any more. She sneezed only when she sniffed too eagerly at the pungent pinon laden smoke that curled lazily or puffed in sudden vigor from a campfire. And she could think of love. Actually she thought of little else. Douglas Kent was the reason.

Charity knew that there was a tradition in the West forbidding questions about a man's past. But in Ohio there was a tradition that if a girl was considering marrying a man she should know something about him.

"Where is home and why did you leave it?" she asked lightly.

"Home is South Carolina. I was just a kid when the war came. But I was the only man left. With the help of my mother and a couple of old maid aunts and a few ex-slaves who stayed with us I ran the plantation."

He paused as his mind turned reluctantly back to those grim years that had imposed too heavy a burden on a boy trained in an aristocratic tradition that prepared him for almost any hardships save those all too common ones, toil and sweat.

Then, as he had schooled himself to do, he closed his mind's eye and laughed. "When my father and the one of my three brothers who was still alive came home after the war I figured I'd done my share to save the old plantation. In '66 I left home. Been drifting ever since."

Charity looked at him—well groomed, handsome, apparently carefree.

"You don't look like a man who's been drifting 16 years," she said smiling.

BACK of San Lorenzo rose the hills, not high themselves but beyond them were the Sangre de Cristo, and beyond the Sangre de Cristo, the Jemez; at their foot lay a valley. It was peaceful in the yellow sunlight when the Conquistadors came; it was still peaceful after Kearney's Americans passed through its gap towards Santa Fe, California and the new empire of the Southwest. On the crest of one of these hills was the loveliest spot Charity had ever known. She often came there alone; today she had brought Douglas. He had protested lazily against the stiff climb.

"A woman's whim," she told him; but now as he slipped his arm around her waist she knew it had been more insinuating than whim.

"I could settle down," he said.

It was not until after she had promised to marry him that Charity resumed her catechism.

"How do you make a living?"

"I thought you knew."

She smiled at his dismay.

"Forgive me. I guess I've been too busy falling in love I didn't have time to inquire."

"Maybe that was a mistake. I'm a gambler."

THE distant mountainsides formed a backdrop of color—yellows and deep golds from aspens and willow, rich browns and reds from the scrub oak. Charity stared across it and dreamed of a small Ohio town. Dust was thick in the street and hung heavy in the humid August air. Her nose tickled, her eyes were red rimmed. But Ed Smith sat beside her in a hammock that was hung between maples whose leaves, when the frost had painted them, would reduce the timid aspen to palid, trembling insignificance. Ed had a respectable job. He bought and sold hogs.

She smiled tenderly at the memory of his earnest voice as he strove to impress her with his stature in the world: "It's a mighty business to be in. Charity, though a man does have to keep his head and watch his step. Amount of profit depends on the market, you know. Sort of a gamble."

"Still the West is different," Charity gasped.

Douglas did not know what to make of her, nor was he reassured when she added: "It's better for hay fever." However, he was content when she assured him that despite his profession she would marry him.

"Not right away, though," she pleaded. "If I'm to be a gambler's wife I've got to learn something about the business."

This shocked him a little.

"I'd know something about it if you sold hogs, wouldn't you?" she asked. Because he was too good a gambler to crowd his luck, Douglas let it go at that.

Mystery Farm

Picture in Central Missouri

Is this your farm?

Most of the readers of the Democrat-Capital have been following this series of the weekly Mystery Farm pictures with considerable interest.

The pictures that appear in this space in Monday's Democrat and Tuesday morning's Capital were taken sometime ago by an aerial photographer. The pictures were not shot with the knowledge of whose farm it was. It was a random job; a picture here and a picture there.

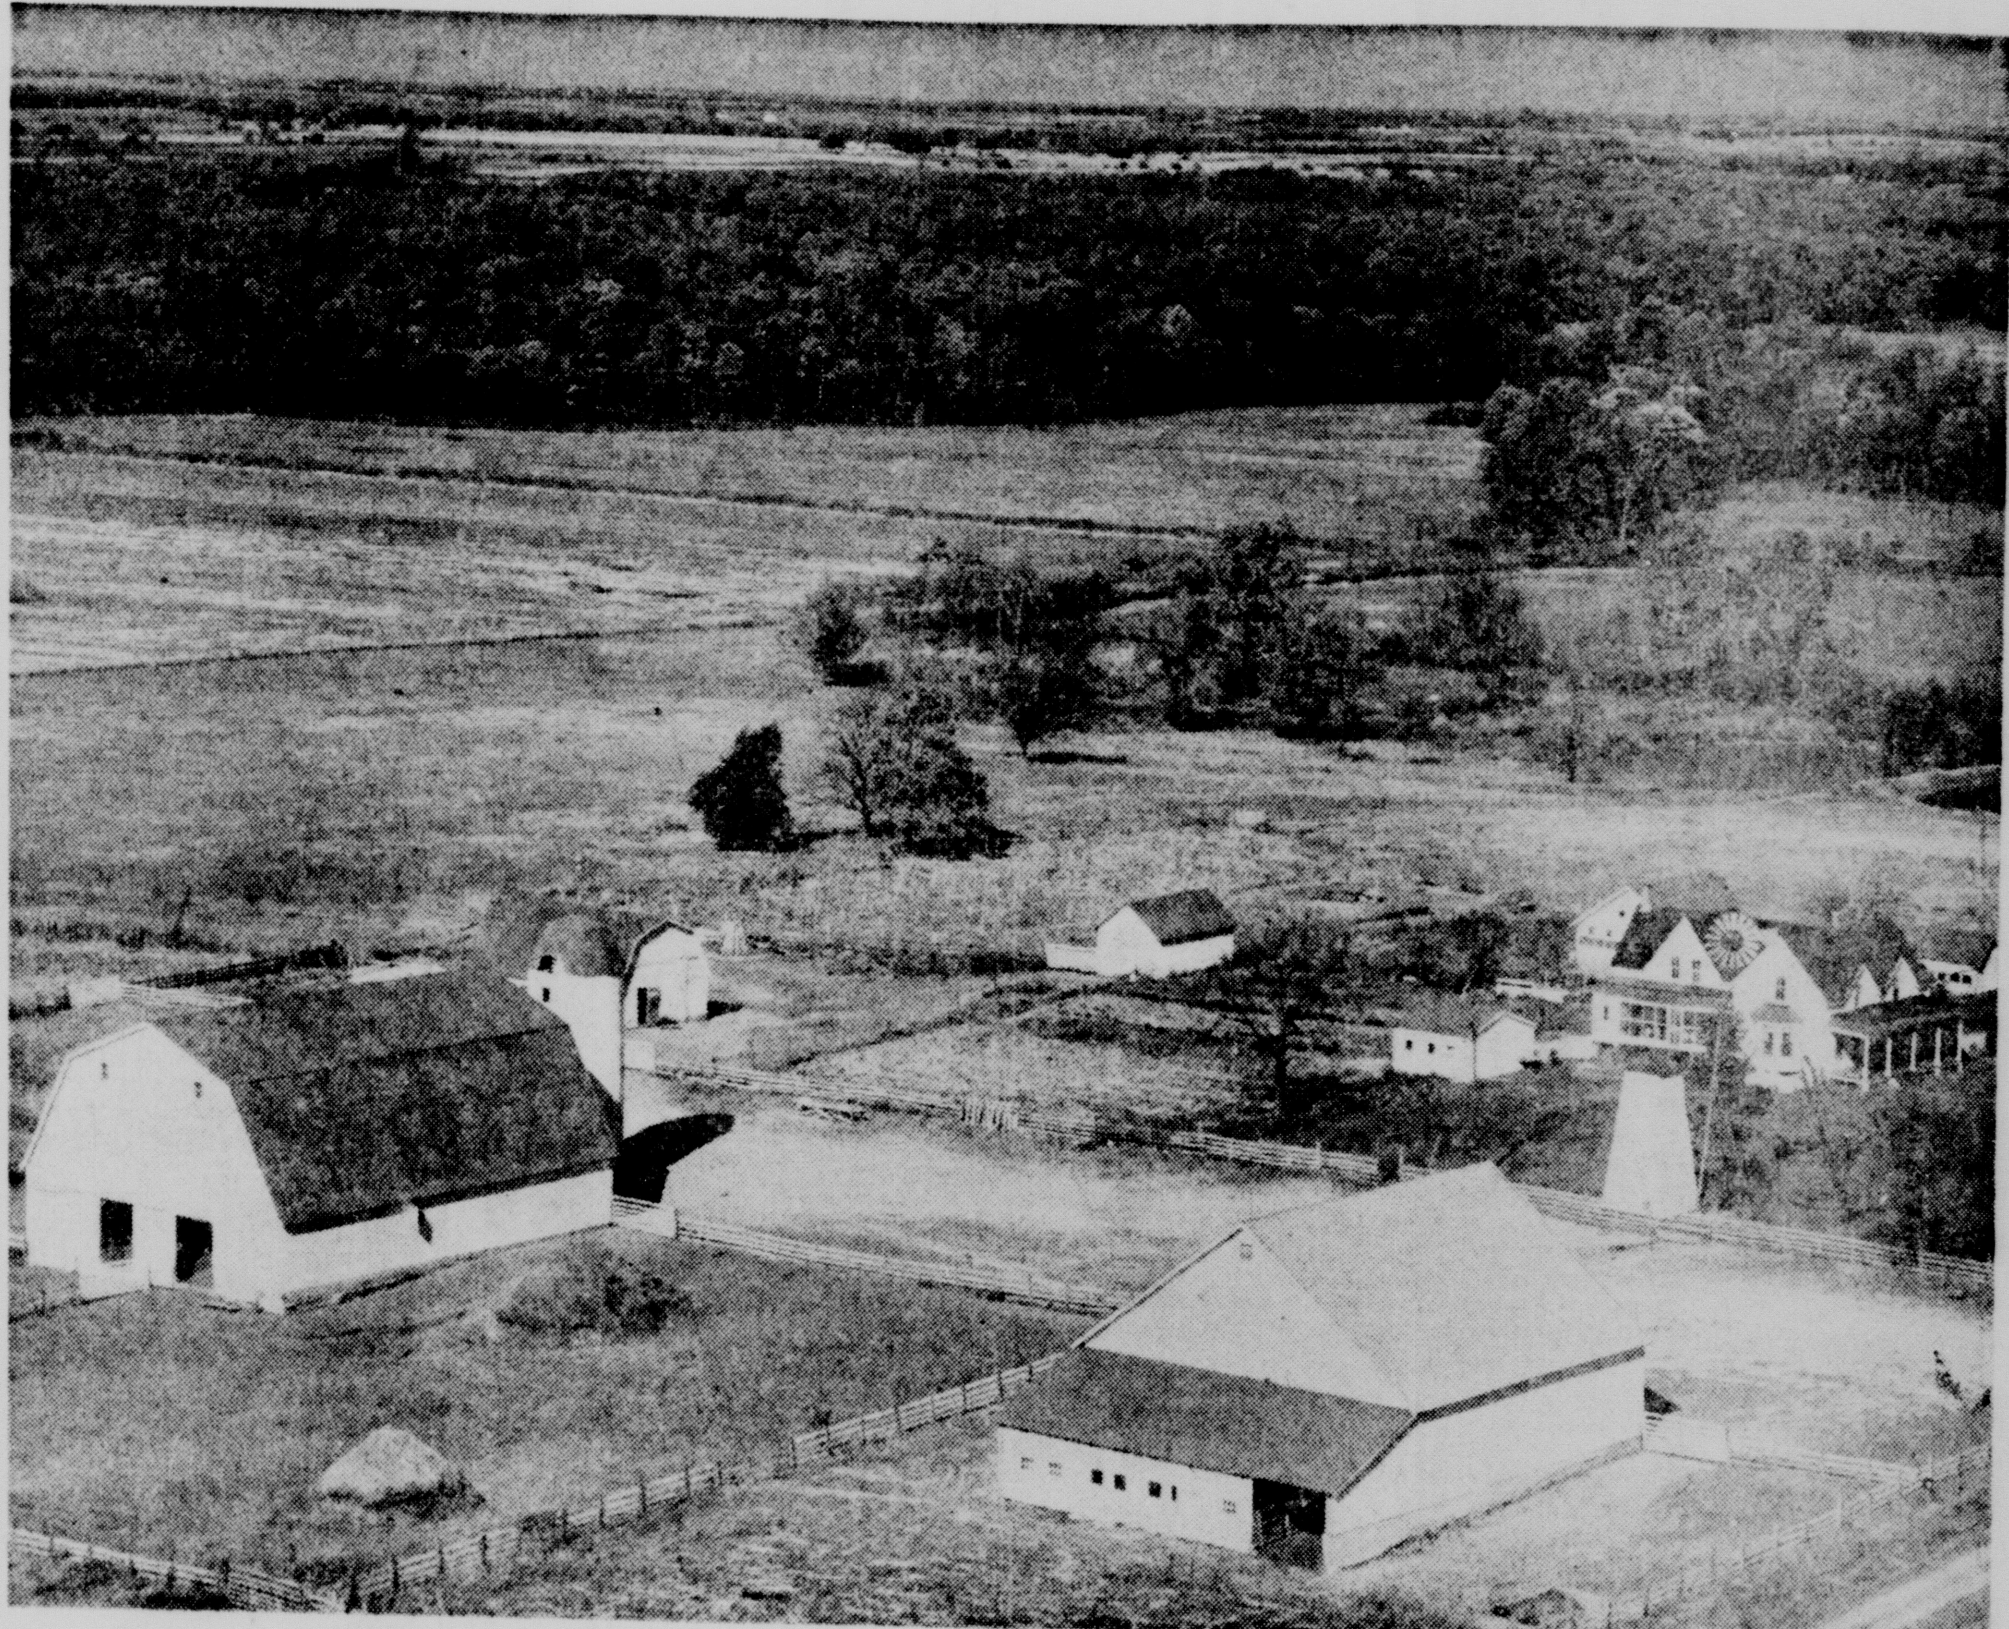

Edwin Danforth, 600 East Broadway, identified the mystery farm picture in last Monday's Democrat. The farm does not belong to him, but to his brother, Charles Danforth, who lives at Harrisonville.

The farm is 1½ miles north-east of what is known as the McEniry farm, and is located south of the MacFarland bridge on Muddy creek.

The Mystery farm picture the week previous showed the farm of A. E. Palmer, three miles north of Syracuse. It is in Cooper county and comprises 210 acres. The residence is of brick and has six rooms. It is modern and the acreage is utilized in pasturage together with the production of wheat, corn, oats and hay.

Livestock grown is Hampshire hogs, red and whiteface cows.

The Palmer family consists of his wife and two sons, one, Charles Palmer, residing in that neighborhood, and Perrin Palmer, of Willow Springs, Mo.

Eighteen Congressmen Vote Secretly With Oil Companies On Tidelands Oil

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 9 — Two groups of senators and congressmen lined up in opposite sides of the fence recently regarding one of the most vital issues in the nation — oil and education.

With the nation's schools in the most deplorable condition in our entire history, 18 members of the House of Representatives' judiciary committee voted to turn over the nation's tidelands oil over to three states and their oil companies, instead of using the proceeds for educational purposes.

On the other side of Congress, 11 senators introduced a resolution whereby the royalties from this oil, administered by the federal government, would go to aid the schools and colleges of the entire nation.

The first group — the 18 members of the judiciary committee — voted secretly. Even behind the closed doors of their committee they tried to avoid a roll call vote, and if it had not been for Congressman Michael Feighan of Ohio they would have sneaked their vote by without even a show of hands.

In the senate, the 11 men who risked the wrath of the oil companies and the powerful tidelands oil lobby stood up and did so openly. They did not hide behind closed doors. Their names are: Lester Hill of Alabama, who initiated the idea; his Alabama colleague, John Sparkman; Wayne Morse of Oregon, Republican; Charles Tobey of New Hampshire, also Republican; and Democrats Benton of Connecticut, Douglas of Illinois, Humphrey of Minnesota, Chavez of New Mexico, Neely of West Virginia, Keft of Tennessee and Hennings of Missouri.

Reversing the Supreme Court

What happened inside the House judiciary committee has not been published, but this column has obtained a list of the congressmen voting for the three states and the oil companies.

It should be noted that the supreme court twice has ruled that the submerged oil lands along the coast of the United States belong to the entire 48 states, not to California, Texas and Louisiana alone. This is on the theory that, under the constitution, the navigable waters of the United States belong to the federal government, not the individual states.

However, the tidelands oil lobby, seeking to reverse the supreme court, has introduced legislation turning these submerged oil lands back to three states, and was so successful that President Truman used the veto.

The other day, in an attempt to reverse both the President and the court, Congressman Ed Gossett of Texas, who is about to retire from Congress, demanded that the judiciary committee vote again on the lobby's tidelands bill. No wildcat promoter ever worked faster to stake a drill site than did Gossett to get this special interest bill through the committee. Gossett didn't even wait to give other members time to read the committee hearings.

This brought stormy protests from Congressmen Celler of New York, Feighan of Ohio and Markey of Michigan. But to no avail. Gossett had the votes and he was roaring for action.

"You can debate this on the House floor if you want to," insisted the Texas congressman. "Let's get a vote."

"But how can we vote intelligently if we don't know what this is all about" objected Michigan's Machrowicz. "There are eight new members on the committee and I'm one of them. You ought to give us a chance at least to read the hearings, which I understand are still at the printers."

"On a matter as vital as this, involving the release of public oil reserves to private interests, we had better go slow," warned Ohio's Feighan. "This involves international as well as national security. With Russia threatening to grab control of the Iran oil fields, there is all the more reason why the federal government should keep control of these valuable deposits in our own country."

Gossett impatiently agreed to postpone a vote until the next morning. Meantime, the printed hearings were distributed a few hours before the showdown. Some members still insisted that they didn't have time to digest the 1,200 pages of testimony, but Gossett adamantly shouted "Vote!"

Secret List of Voters

By this time, however, some of Gossett's supporters were beginning to get cold feet. They wanted to vote for the oil companies, but they didn't want to be so recorded, even in a secret meeting, because of possible leaks to the press. A motion was therefore made for a "voice" vote.

But Feighan jumped to his feet. "We should at least have a show of hands, so we will know how many are voting for and against the bill," he demanded.

When this was done, Chairman Celler counted 18 members for handing tidelands oil back to three states, with 7 against it. Since a "hand," or division, vote is merely counted and not itemized member by member there is no breakdown in the secret record of how each congressman votes. However, this column is able to report that the congressmen who voted to hand over the nation's tidelands oil to three states and the oil companies were:

Democrats: Walter of Pennsylvania, who has both Lafayette and Lehigh colleges in his district; Wilson of Texas, who has a college in his district; Boggs of Delaware, who has the University of Delaware in his district; Crumpacker of Indiana, who has Notre Dame in his district; Thompson of Michigan, Hillings of California; McCullough of Ohio; and Bakewell of Missouri.

Those voting against the oil companies were: Celler of New York; Lane of Massachusetts; Feighan of Ohio; Rodino of New Jersey (by proxy); Byrne of New York and Ramsay of West Virginia, all Democrats; and Case of New Jersey, Republican.

Two others present, Machrowicz of Michigan, Democrat, and Keating of New York, Republican, indicated opposition to the oil companies, but refused to vote because they weren't given time to study the hearings.

The Doctor Says—

Early Diagnosis of Polio is Aid in Patient's Recovery

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Children are more susceptible to polio than grown-ups though the disease can and sometimes does strike those having a special responsibility to watch their youngsters for any sign of illness which might possibly be polio since early diagnosis and treatment may mean a good deal for the outcome.

If there are several cases of polio in the community it is wise to be particularly cautious. The first signs of the disease may be similar to those of any other infection: low fever, headache, dizziness, irritability and similar vague symptoms are common.

Many youngsters who develop such signs will not have polio but it is better to be sure than sorry. Slight stiffness of the neck is quite common in polio but parents should not make an imaginative child too conscious of the importance of a stiff neck.

In other words it is the doctor's responsibility, not the parents', to make a diagnosis and all that the parents should do to get medical help if they even suspect anything serious might be wrong.

Actually a definite diagnosis may be difficult or impossible during the first few days. Signs of muscle weakness of the disease usually do not show up for several days after the first symptoms. It may be impossible to tell until that time. However, the rest in bed and general care which can be given early, and the isolation from other youngsters which should be enforced, are all to the good.

There is a form of the disease known as bulbar poliomyelitis in which difficulty in breathing is the most important symptom, and which often appears early. This is the kind in which the so-called iron lung is used. This instrument is designed to make breathing possible during the time when nature is unable to accomplish it.

Although newspaper readers are all familiar with stories of people who have lived for years in a respirator or iron lung, in most cases the need does not last very long. Many of those with this form of polio are really lucky because the paralysis clears up entirely and they frequently have no other effects.

The treatment of early polio has already improved enormously with the use of hot-wet packs and other measures. It is continuing to improve. With early diagnosis and prompt treatment an enormous number of those stricken with polio are recovering completely or so nearly that they have little or no trouble leading normal lives in later years.

Tour July 17 Be Made to Eight Farms

Morning And Afternoon Visits
In Two Sections

The Balanced Farming Tour, July 17th will be divided into 2 sections. Four farms around La Monte and Dresden will be visited in the morning and 4 around Sedalia and Beaman will be toured in the afternoon. A short stop for discussion will be made at 1:30 at John Ryans northeast of Sedalia.

Claude Finleys at 9:00 a. m.
The tour will start at 9:00 o'clock Tuesday morning at Claude Finleys. The Finleys produce hatching eggs and have nearly 800 layers. They live 1 mile west, 1/2 mile north, 1/4 west and 1/2 mile north of LaMonte.

The next stop at 9:45 will be at the Askev Bros. Turkey farm which is located 1 mile east and 1/2 mile north of LaMonte. They have 2500 pullets that will be on range by meeting time. Visitors can also see the 24 x 100 foot turkey brooder house and the grade A milking barn where 35 cows are being handled. A new loafing barn is to be built there this fall.

Observe New Type Erosion Control Structure

The 10:30 stop will be at the Dr. Walter farm, operated by Hugo and Forest Kappelmann. Here one of the new tube type erosion control structures is in use. This structure is on a dirt road and will have to be bypassed if the weather is still wet. It is located 1/2 mile north, 1/4 east and 1/2 miles north of the Askev farm.

The fourth stop at 11:30 will be to see a terracing system in full operation. It is at Stevens McClures, 3 1/2 miles south of Dresden or 3 miles west of the State Fair Grounds on 16th street. The stop will be made along the 16th Street road near the west side of the farm where 2 terrace outlets come together and empty into a roadside culvert.

Assemble At John Ryan At 1:30
The afternoon tour will really start at the Fairfax farm at 1:00 p. m. where a hog sanitation set-up is in operation. Walter will be supplied to 3 ten acre fields with a new pond. This farm is located on Highway C (Abell road) 3 1/2 miles southeast of Sedalia.

Those who are not interested in the hog setup can go directly to the Ryan farm for the 1:30 session. It is located 1 mile north of Sedalia on highway 65 and 1 1/2 miles east on a gravel road. The Ryan home is a quarter of a mile off the road.

A short time will be taken at Ryans for discussion by 2 folks from the University of Missouri, College of Agriculture, Extension Economist, Clarence Klinger and Extension Home Management Specialist, Miss Alvie Mae Alexander.

Home Remodeling At Schupps.

We hope to reach the E. P. Schupp farm by 2:45 p. m. Visitors here will see a modern kitchen and bathroom. Space for the bath and more storage was provided by moving one of the partitions between 2 bedrooms. The Schupps also have one of the new 24 x 52 hen houses and a rotation garden in operation with it. The Schupps live 1 mile east, 1/4 north and 1/2 east of Ryans and then back south up a hill.

Grade A Dairy At Riley Lees
The Lees live 1 1/2 miles north east of Schupps and we will try to be there by 3:45. They have a 20 x 40 Grade A Dairy building just finished last fall. Mr. Lee, his brother, Bud and his father-in-law did all the work and a fine job on the concrete block building. All dairymen are going to need something like this should see it. The Lees live 1 mile north, 1 1/2 east, 1 1/2 north, 1/4 east and 1/4 north of Schupps.

Pakistan Officials Study Democracy

SYDNEY —(P)— Twenty-two Pakistan Government servants have arrived in Australia to learn various aspects of running a democratic country. They want to learn ways of handling traffic, how to prevent erosion, how to curb the black market and how to bring culture to backward areas. "We're building a brand new nation, a friendly nation, and we're in a hurry," said Shafiq Azam, spokesman of the party.

Inspection For Sale Cattle

If you beef cattle breeders have any purebred bulls or heifers that you want to consign to the Central Missouri Beef Cattle Sale at Clinton in November, notify the county extension office at 118 1/2 West Third. Inspection of these cattle will be made in July by a committee.

This cooperative sale consisting of Angus, Hereford and Shorthorns is one of two held each year to improve the beef cattle industry in this area. The sale provides an economical way of selling good breeding stock, not carrying enough fat to sell in a consignment state sale of the respective breeders.

Cattle sold at the Clinton sale are not particularly fitted. If interested get in touch with the extension office at once.

Can Get Soil Samples Even If They Wet

Spread Dirt On a Newspaper For
Drying It Out

Even if your ground is wet you can take your soil samples for that soil test to figure out what fertilizer ingredients you need to grow high yields of profitable crops, says the Extension Agent.

Of course, you don't want to go over your shoe tops in collecting these samples but you can take them before you can cultivate.

Be sure you take your samples properly. To avoid unusual conditions take several samples and mix them together, from each field. By each field we mean the area that has the same soil type, same depth of soil, same time treatment, same fertilizer treatment, and similar cropping system.

These individual samples are then mixed together to make a composite sample. Be sure that you have the same amount of soil in each individual sample to make up the composite sample. The composite sample when brought in to the soil testing laboratory should be about 1/2 pint (1 cup full).

If the soil is wet when you take your samples put the individual samples together. Pour them on a newspaper spread out and place them where they will dry out. Don't place on a hot stove. Stir occasionally when drying. When they are dry, bring them to the Farm Bureau office, 118 West Third street, for testing.

In taking the samples be sure to get a slice of dirt if spade or shovel is used from the top to the bottom of the 7 inch hole. If an auger is used but a mark on the auger 7 inches from the end and bore down until this mark is even with the ground then pull up on the auger carefully so that all the dirt comes up.

A clean bucket to put these individual samples in is mighty handy in taking the individual samples.

If you buy your fertilizer or lime by the hit or miss method you are likely to spend your money less wisely than if you know your soil needs through the soil tests.

Wheat Support Price In County

A basic price support rate for the 1951-crop wheat produced and stored in Pettis county of $2.16 1/2 net per bushel for No. 1 wheat is announced this week by the Pettis county PMA committee. Last year's rate was $2.08 - bushel.

Wheat produced on Pettis county farms and containing no more than 14% moisture, grading No. 3 or better, or No. 4 or better, of test weight only, will be eligible for Community Credit Corporation loan or purchase agreement.

To be eligible for the loan, wheat must be placed in approved storage either on the farm or in a commercial warehouse or elevator, according to the committee. No storage allowance will be made by Community Credit Corporation on the 1951-crop wheat thus requiring that all storage charges must be met by the producer.

Loans and purchase agreements will be available from CCC through the county PMA office in accordance with the program provisions from time of harvest through January 31, 1952 and will mature on April 30, 1952, or earlier on demand.

Sign Up For Feeders Sale Be on July 11

Each Animal To Be Consigned Is To Be Graded

If you want to consign your calves or yearlings to the Cattle Feeders Sale to be held at Sedalia on September 22, see a member of the board of directors and he will list your cattle.

The board is announcing a sign up meeting for July 11 at 8:00 p. m. in the Assembly room of the county house. Full details of this educational program inaugurated by the Pettis County Beef Breeders Association will be announced.

This offers a rare opportunity for the producer with a small number of calves to find a market at a reasonable marketing cost.

Each one of your cattle you consign will be graded and sold in a pen with other cattle of the same grade.

At this meeting the board of directors will be in a position to answer your questions and to list the cattle you wish to sell.

These sales draw buyers from adjoining counties and even from some of the adjoining states. You will have more than one bidder as compared to only one you would have at private treaty.

Buyers like these sales as shown by repeated purchases they make year after year. They like the idea of buying cattle in lots of at least 10 each. Each lot contains cattle of the same sex, breed, quality and weight. This means a feeder can run all the buys in one lot, feeding them alike and marketing them at the same time.

The board of directors is active now in working out the details of the sale such as securing auctioneer, providing good facilities for handling 500 to 1000 cattle and providing a good sale arena. The board consists of E. W. Thompson, Tom Ream, Pierre Lamy, Dick Monks, C. S. Arnold, John M. Speed, Jr., and Dan Robinson. Bruce Claycomb is treasurer and Roy I. Copien secretary.

Notes On Balanced Farming

By Merle Vaughan

The Balanced Farming tour is all day Tuesday July 17th. However, if you can't make the all day trip possibly you can attend the short meeting that will be held at John Ryans at 1:30 that day. You will want to stay to see the permanent pasture renovation that John has been doing.

A picnic the evening of Tuesday night August 14 will take the place of the July and August Balanced Farming dinners. C. R. Meeker, Extension Economist in Farm Management, has been invited to speak. This will be an open meeting and any one interested in Balanced Farming is invited to attend. It will be at Liberty Park in Sedalia.

Mrs. R. C. Chancey and family of Sedalia, route 2 have started remodeling a side porch to provide space for a bathroom and additional storage.

Her sons, Jessie Jr., Emmett and George Fairfax have part of their hog sanitation program in gear too. The first 10 acre field was seeded to rape early this spring. It has now been fenced and 200 head of spring pigs are grazing on it.

Two Agricultural Engineers, Herman Hall and Robert Beasley, from the University of Missouri were in Pettis county Monday afternoon. Their purpose was to check on the effectiveness of some of the new tube type structures at the end of terrace outlets.

Stops were made to see 2 at Wm. J. Lamm and one at Ernest Selkens both near Smithton, one at Ernest Fredericks west of Dresden and one at Koppelmann Bros. north east of LaMonte. A stop was also made to see a slightly different type one at C. G. Schlobooms southwest of LaMonte.

All the structures worked very well and the Engineers were apparently well satisfied with their performance. The field above one of the tubes has not yet been terraced and there is considerable brush laying around that was pushed out when the outlets were built. A good sized piece of wood floated into this tube and out down on the amount of water that could go through it. Consequently, more water had to go over the emergency spillway but no damage was done. After the terraces are in, there is normally not enough water to float any large object to the tube unless it is laying in the terrace outlet.

Several association members have consigned calves to the Feeder Calf Sale to be held at Sedalia, Saturday, September 22.

Better Ways To Conserve

Big Increase In
The County With Terrace Outlets

Helping farmers put into use better methods of conservation which fit in with current production needs is the major function of the Agricultural Conservation Program, says Robert W. Rissler, chairman of the Pettis County PMA committee. To this end, he points out, research and the ACP work together as a team to insure the needed current and future production, a primary objective of the Nation's defense effort.

As research proves the effectiveness of various conservation practices—high yielding legumes, improved range grass, or a more effective practice, this "better way of doing things" is made a part of the Agricultural Conservation program.

The chairman points out that the conservation practices have to be adapted for local areas and for individual farms before they can be fully effective in conserving soil and water and in building up the farm for future production. This adaptation is done with the assistance of technical committees in each State and of county PMA committees, extension agents and soil conservation technicians in each county and soil conservation district.

As the chairman explains, no matter how effective a practice may be they are of value in increasing farm production only when they are put to use on the individual farms.

To illustrate, Rissler cites the tremendous increase in the construction of terrace outlets and standard terraces here in Pettis county. Research showed the value of these practices through elimination of erosion and maintaining the fertility of the soil as increased by the use of limestone and fertilizers. The ACP helped to get the practices used widely by farmers of this county.

The increased demand stimulated research to further developments in the use and adaptability of these practices. At the same time research has been stimulating improved varieties of grasses and legumes and to increase the supplies of better seed.

As a result, the whole process of soil improvement has been stim-

CC Corn In Lots To Feeders

Jas A. Harvey, member of the Pettis County PMA Committee and supervisor at the Sedalia CCC Bin Site, announced today that the Commodity Credit Corporation established price for July sales of the corn stored at Sedalia is $1.71 per bushel.

Approximately 16,000 bushels of this corn have been sold to farmers and feed dealers in Pettis and surrounding counties since the first of April, 1951. Harvey reports there is still a little more than 14,000 bushels available for sale.

To eliminate excessive costs for handling, this CCC corn is sold only in lots of 200 bushels or more and is loaded out of the bin by the county PMA committee for an ulated and the Nation is in that much better shape to meet the defense needs of today and the continuing needs of tomorrow.

Many of the soil and water conservation practices in wide use on farms today, Rissler points out, are the results of research with ACP serving as an effective means of stimulating their use on our farms.

Daring Rescue at Golden Gate

Dramatic action was recorded on the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge as a paint foreman, William Toates, made a daring flying tackle to rescue Joseph F. Baotista, 22, of Honolulu, T. H., as the youth threatened suicide. Top photos show the two men 500 feet above the water. Toates, left, tries to persuade Baotista to come down. At the right, Toates, one leg high in the air, makes a flying leap to grab the Honolulu man. Below, Baotista is handcuffed and tied by patrolmen to be taken to a hospital for observation. RHEUMATISM PAINS

Relieved in Few Minutes

It is now easy to aid rheumatism pains. It will cost you nothing.

So why suffer another day from the agony of this painful ailment when you can secure MUSCLE-RUB, the new preparation that not only relieves the pains of rheumatism but also lumbago, muscle soreness, sprains, as well as the less serious lameness of muscles and joints? It is no longer necessary for you to do your system with internal medicine. The entire MUSCLE-RUB treatment is a simple liquid, applied directly to the limbs, shoulders, neck, face or back—wherever the trouble may be.

"THANK GOD FOR MUSCLE-RUB" SAYS CALIFORNIA RHEUMATIC SUFFERER

I bought everything I could buy for my rheumatism pains but got no results until I tried MUSCLE-RUB. The pain in my right arm was so bad I could not raise it. Thank God for MUSCLE-RUB—I used it—and now I feel fine. I am a carpenter, 61 years old. I was in bed for 10 days and she says it is helping her, too.

MUSCLE-RUB RELIEVED PAINS AFTER SUFFERING TWO YEARS

I am writing this letter to let you know how well pleased I am with your MUSCLE-RUB. I have spent a great deal of money trying every kind of remedy and nothing to help me until I was told about your remarkable MUSCLE-RUB. I have used 1/2 of the large bottle and obtained mighty good results. This is the first time in many years that I have been able to rest peacefully without pain. My sister has also used your MUSCLE-RUB for a bad sprain and it has given her satisfactory results. I am indeed very grateful to have learned of your remedy and recommend your MUSCLE-RUB very highly.

A miffed Virginia Hill, arriving with bag and baggage, is barred from her expensive house in Spokane, Wash., July 7.
